

Meet Lisa

Lisa is an accomplished and dedicated Speech Language Pathologist with over a decade of experience. Having entered the field in 2009, she has developed a diverse skill set that covers various areas of speech pathology. Her expertise extends to several key areas, including Autism, Articulation and Phonological Disorders, Childhood Language Disorders, Narrative Language Development, Pragmatic/Social Language, and Traumatic Brain Injury. As an SOS Approach to Feeding Trained Professional, she possesses specialized skills in addressing feeding challenges. Throughout her career, Lisa has had the privilege of working in educational, clinical, and medical settings, gaining valuable insights into the unique needs and challenges of her clients. Beyond her professional pursuits, Lisa cherishes the time spent with her two precious daughters, who fill her life with joy, laughter, and wonderful memories. With her warm and compassionate approach, Lisa establishes meaningful connections with her clients, fostering a supportive environment for growth and progress. She is excited to embark on a journey of communication enhancement with each individual she works with.
