

Meet Lori

Lori Wills is an accomplished educator and Speech-Language Pathologist whose career reflects a deep commitment to supporting diverse learners and empowering individuals with communication needs. With advanced training in both special education and communication disorders, she brings a comprehensive, student-centered approach to every educational and therapeutic setting.

She earned an Education Specialist (Ed.S.) degree in Special Education from the University of West Georgia in May 2021, building on a strong foundation in communication sciences. Prior to this, she completed both the Master of Education in Communication Disorders (December 2004) and the Bachelor of Education in Communication Disorders (May 2003) at Valdosta State University.

As a dedicated professional, she holds a Level 6 Georgia Teaching Certificate, demonstrating advanced expertise in the field of education. Additionally, she maintains the Certificate of Clinical Competence (CCC-SLP) from the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA), reflecting a high standard of clinical excellence and ongoing professional development.

Throughout her career, she has worked to create inclusive, supportive learning environments where students can thrive academically, socially, and communicatively. Her work is grounded in evidence-based practice, collaboration, and a genuine belief in the potential of every learner.
